

Big Dig Instant Challenge

Challenge

Archeology is the study of human past through the study of material remains. For this challenge your team will create a story about future archeologists uncovering remains of a present day material and describing what it means about our civilization.

Part 1

Your team will build an artifact using the materials provided and come up with a story about a team of archeologists describing what life is like today by studying the artifact. Your team will have three minutes to build the artifact and to come up with the story

Part 2

Your team will present the story and the artifact to the appraisers. Your team will have a maximum of four minutes for their story and presentation.

Materials

Use any materials you have on hand.

Scoring

- 10 Points for a story with a clear beginning
- 10 Points for a story with a clear middle
- 10 Points for a story with a clear ending
- 20 Points for Creative use of materials
- 20 Points for teamwork
- 30 Points for how well integrated the artifact is to the story